Meet our new Members

New Member— Cameron

James

James grew up on the family farm, beginning his working career as an accountant at a Chartered Accounting Firm in Melbourne before moving to an International Merchant Bank based in Melbourne but transacting around the world.

In 1980 James and his wife Anne moved back to Ross to take over the management of the family farm.

Following the sale of the farm James and three other partners formed Tasmania's first investment Bank, Investas Ltd, which was subsequently sold in 2003.

In 2004 he began an association with Rural Bank as a relationship manager and in 2011 he moved to the Bendigo Bank group as a business banker specialising in agribusiness.

James is currently in the process of assisting the Circular Head Community to establish their own Community Bank. James Anne and family moved to George Town

James has also accepted a position on our Executive Committee. The Chamber Executive group considers itself to be very lucky to have gained 2 new Executive Committee members in the last couple of months. Both James and Grahame (Lowe) bring valuable experiences and skills which will be of great value, not only to the Executive group, but to the Chamber as a whole.

James and Grahame—it is great to have you on board!!

New Member—Ian Craig

Over the last few years Ian has built a client base of local private, commercial and industrial clients who are seeking a multi-skilled and equipped, flexible service provider. He has found an avenue of client needs in not just property management, but now extending that service to value add to the client's experience by offering extra services including airport pick up and delivery, care-taker, and access key holder.

He has also assisted his distant clients source tools and equipment if they wish to complete work upon their own properties themselves.

Ian is also a personal concierge for property owners and clients in the Tamar area.

New business venture:

Ian's business has now expended to include personalised Wine and Cheese Tours for visitors/tourists. Ian will offer his services as a designated driver to escort visitors during the summer season, to local vineyards for tastings and luncheon.

The George Town Chamber of Commerce wishes Ian all the very best in his new business venture. There certainly seems to be a market place for services of this type which offer a relaxed and informative opportunity to see some local wineries and cheese makers.
